The Graduate School of the College of Charleston and The Citadel Graduate College offer a unique approach to middle grades education. Faculty from both institutions prepare you to teach young adolescents in grades five through eight in one of four content areas: English language arts, mathematics, social studies or science. Learn how to draw upon your own intellectual curiosities, knowledge of content, experiences with 21st-century technologies and your desire to engage with young adolescents through teaching and learning in a variety of contexts.

ADMISSIONS CRITERIA

• Transcripts from all academic institutions; minimum undergraduate GPA of 2.5
• Official GRE or MAT scores; Official TOEFL scores if primary language is not English
• Professional résumé and cover letter stating reasons for pursuing a teaching career
• Self-assessment of goals and dispositions; Two letters of recommendation
• Statement of ability to perform essential teaching duties under the Americans with Disabilities Act
